

BRIEFLETS.

—Much mud.
—Septuagesima Sunday to-morrow.
—Wash up and go hear the preacher.
—You might as well let the chickens have the cutter again for a roost. No snow.
—Bagg Bros. have fired another volley, and the war-cloud darkens. See their card announcing new prices of fuel.
—Seven weeks of the fifty-two new ones are gone, and still some of the boys stick to their swearing off, but none of them have slid back.
—Messrs. A. & F. Sonneborn have been receiving their spring stock of clothing, and cloth for their merchant tailoring department.
—A squad of Indians are canvassing the city, asking for alms. They look as if they had arses enough already to earn a living without begging.
—Jones and Cayenough for failure to take out the necessary license for running a show, were this morning fined $10 and costs by Justice Patton.
—The Mayor says he don't want anything said about it in the paper, so the Gazette will whisper confidentially to the readers—"It's a bouncing boy, and all well."
—The Concordia Masquerade will take place in Concordia hall, Feb. 21. The committee of arrangements are doing nobly and will have everything in readiness for a good time.
—Miss Battle's music pupils will give a piano recital Monday evening, February 18, at half-past seven, at her music rooms. There will be no tickets, but all are cordially invited.
—During the past week there have been 112 money orders issued at the postoffice, amounting to $1,200.98 and 95 paid amounting to $1,416.22, making a total business of $2,617.20.
—Mr. M. T. Skiff, the gentlemanly business manager of the Heyers Sisters' Combination, was in the city yesterday and arranged for two concerts to take place Monday and Tuesday evenings, March 11 and 12. Make a note of it.
—Sergt. Childers stirred up those who came out to hear his temperance lecture at the Grange hall last Wednesday evening. The audience was a large one, and his reformatory effort met with wonderful success. There is a growing demand for his red ribbons.
—To-morrow morning about twenty minutes before four o'clock a partial eclipse of the moon will be visible in Janesville. The young folks shouldn't sit up till that time to see it though, as it may be cloudy and their love's labor would surely be lost—as far as the eclipse is concerned.
—One young lady who is of an economical turn of mind has been sending several valentines in one envelope, with a request that the young man to whom the envelope was directed should distribute them among those for whom they were marked. That girl has at least one cent's idea.
—W. B. Stoddard rises to explain. He says the new corner tipped the beam at ten pounds and a half instead of eight pounds as stated in yesterday's Gazette. He says Miss Stoddard is indignant and demands an apology. The Gazette takes the young lady's word for the extra two pounds and a half, and stands corrected.
—Rev. A. L. Royce goes to Bradford next Wednesday night to lecture on "Christianity and Art." The same gentleman will lecture in All Souls church next Monday evening on "Christianity in Relation to Amusement." He is in quite a demand as a lecturer, his former efforts having proved very successful.
—The lecture on "Michael Angelo" by Mrs. Benson, of Clinton, was listened to by a small but appreciative audience last evening. The lecture presented a very clear and pleasing delineation of the life, struggles and character of the great artist, and the impress made by him in his age, and art in general. Mrs. Benson is a pleasant speaker, and seemed thoroughly conversant with her theme. She is a sister of Mrs. Gov. Harvey, and a lady of fine culture and ability.
THE WEATHER.
The thermometer at 7 o'clock this morning stood at 32 degrees above and at 1 o'clock at 44 degrees above. Cloudy. One year ago at corresponding hours of the day the thermometer indicated 18 degrees and 45 degrees above.
The indications to-day are partially cloudy weather, with areas of light rain or snow, warm southerly winds, falling barometer, followed by rising barometer and colder, northerly winds.
Reports from the various stations taken over the wires at midnight show that the mercury has varied from 17 degrees above at Bismarck to 43 degrees above at Keokuk. A light rain has fallen at Duluth.

THE WESTERN RURAL.
The Western Rural, of Chicago, is rapidly growing in popularity and influence, for the enterprising and aggressive spirit it manifests. Its several departments are full of interest and admirably adapted to all the interests of the farm and the fire-side. It advocates equal rights to all classes and strongly opposes the encroachments of capital and the grinding monopolies which tend to get a foothold in our land. The summary of general news and market reports is excellent. In fact, the Western Rural has assumed the vantage ground as being the foremost of its kind in this country. We are not surprised that its circulation and influence are rapidly extending.

A BUSY LIFE.
An Interesting Review of the Work Done By the Tongue and Pen of the Late Rev. Wm. Goodell.
His Early Life and Education—The Events which Crowded into His Four-score Years.
REV. WILLIAM GOODSELL, whose death was announced in yesterday's Gazette, had a life so crowded with usefulness to his fellows, and so eventful to himself that it merits more than a passing notice. Mr. Goodell was one of the pioneers of the anti-slavery, temperance and kindred reforms, a zealous and laborious promoter of them as a public speaker, writer and executive officer of voluntary associations. He was born in Coventry, Chenango county, New York, October 25, 1792—probably the first white child born in that vicinity. Of like kith and kin were William Goodell, D.D., missionary of the American Board and one of the translators of the Scriptures at Constantinople, and Capt. Silas Goodell, of the revolutionary war. At the age of five years the subject of this sketch removed with his parents to Windsor, New York. In early childhood he suffered a severe illness which left him for some time lame. The confinement caused by this infirmity fostered habits of thought and study which doubt, less contributed largely to mould his character and shape his future. Debarred from childish sports his mind was occupied with the study of such themes as the limited library to which he had access suggested to him. His principal reading consisted of the Bible, Watt's Psalms and Hymns, Hottel's Hymns, Methodist Pocket Hymn Book, Pilgrim's Progress, writings of Mrs. Elizabeth Rowe, Wesley's sermons, Fletcher's Appeal, and some odd volumes of the Spectator and Guardian. Religious services in those days were a luxury and families frequently trudged through the woods on foot or rode with ox teams for miles to hear a sermon in a school-house.
The mother died in 1803, and with the breaking up of the family, William was transferred to the home of his mother's relatives in Amenia, where he attended school and assisted on the farm. A year later he was sent to other relatives in Pomfret, Conn., where he remained five years studying and working in like manner. Here he had the additional advantages of two public libraries, and the daily society of his grandmother, a woman of more than ordinary culture and ability. A convert of Whitefield's, and an eye-witness of many of the scenes of the revolution, she had decided opinions on all theological, ethical and political topics, and impressed her views strongly upon the mind of her apt grandson.
In 1812 he went to Providence, R. I., and engaged in mercantile business as a clerk. Success attended him, and in a few years he accepted an offer from a prominent firm as assistant superintendent in one of their ships bound for India, China and European markets. He set sail January 1, 1817, and thus traveled abroad for over two years. Returning he engaged in business at Wilmington, N. C.; afterwards at Providence, R. I.; and at Alexandria, Va. At the South, he had ample opportunity to study the working of the slavery system of which he became such a deadly and powerful opponent.
In 1823 he was married to Miss Clarissa C. Cady, daughter of Deacon Josiah Cady, of Providence, R. I.
He first commenced writing for the press in 1820, in the Providence Gazette, in a series of articles against the pending Missouri compromise. From that time on he wrote frequently for various periodicals on the living religious, moral, and political issues of the day. A residence of two years in New York city, from 1825 to 1827, compelled him to notice the controlling prevalence of vice, and then it was that he discovered his heaven-appointed life-work to be an uncompromising warfare with gigantic public evils. In 1827 he commenced to edit the weekly "Investigator" at Providence. Two years later he removed to Boston connecting his "Investigator" with the National Philanthropist. In June 1830 he removed to New York where he continued his paper under the name of the "Genius of Temperance." Here also he afterward edited the "Emancipator." At Utica and Whitesboro, N. Y., he edited the "Friend of Man," from 1836 to 1842. Here too he issued his monthly "Anti-Slavery Lectures" for one year, and commenced his "Christian Investigator." Continuing the latter publication he removed to Honeoye, N. Y., where he acted as pastor of an independent reform church for several years. In 1853 he returned to New York and successfully edited the "American Jubilee," "Radical Abolitionist," and "Principle." After the abolition of slavery he resumed his temperance lectures. After residing in Lebanon, Conn., five years he removed to Janesville in 1870.
Besides his other writings he had written several volumes as the "Democracy of Christianity," in two volumes; "Slavery and Anti-Slavery," a history of the struggle; "American Slave Code," and "Our National Charters," showing the illegality of slavery, and the constitutional power of the government to control it, besides several volumes on religious and ethical subjects, which are still in manuscript. Among these are "Life and Teachings of Christ," and "The Highest Good," showing that moral good is higher than natural good. During the last two years his pen has been chiefly busy in the temperance cause. He has been preparing a series of twenty articles for "The Living Issue" published in New York. Nine of these have been already printed, and he was at work on the eighteenth of the series when his tired hand dropped the pen forever. These articles were concerning the law, the results of the Maine liquor law. They were to be published later in pamphlet form. A few weeks before his death he was awarded a prize for an essay on "The Social Aspect of the Temperance Question," which was the last work of a voluminous nature which he penned.
Mr. Goodell assisted in organizing the American Anti-Slavery Society of Philadelphia, in 1833; the Liberty party, in Albany, N. Y., in 1840; the American Missionary Association at Albany, in 1846; the National Prohibition party, in Chicago, in 1869, and participated in the reunion of abolitionists at Chicago, in June, 1874, which was the last time that he ever passed beyond the city limits of Janesville.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodell celebrated their golden wedding in this city July 4, 1873, their two children, Mrs. Rev. L. P. Frost, and Miss Lavinia Goodell, attorney-at-law of Janesville, being present together with three of their grandchildren.
Among the other pleasing incidents of his life was an interview held with President Lincoln, the night before the proclamation of emancipation was signed. Dr. Geo. B. Cheever, and Dr. Brown, of N. Y., were also present, and it is said to have been the last interview Mr. Lincoln held before penning his autograph to that important document, and is supposed to have had great influence in causing him to reach the decision he did.
Mr. Goodell's views on reformatory subjects are probably sufficiently indicated in this sketch. He was strongly in favor of the woman suffrage movement, and his religious views were those commonly termed Evangelical, he being an honored member of the Congregational church at the time of his death. No words need be said in his praise. The work of a life-time speaks more and higher praise.
For some time past he has been enfeebled by ill health and old age, but his mental faculties remained unimpaired. About a week ago his chronic ailment returned, and his life of usefulness ended calmly and peacefully.
The funeral services will take place at the Congregational church to-morrow afternoon at half-past 2 o'clock.
TAKEN BY FORCE.
On Wednesday last a large number of good Johnstown people banded together and captured the residence of Mr. Bushal Carter, while the family were visiting a neighbor. When returning in the early part of the evening and seeing the house lighted throughout, from a distance, they supposed it to be a fire and hastened home in fright, only to find merry-making friends awaiting them with baskets of goodies and everything ready for a happy time. The festivities of the occasion were hushed during the evening, and a presentation made by Mr. Cook in behalf of the company, who, in a few fitting words gave to the host and hostess the two beautiful chandeliers hanging lighted in the hall and parlor. Mr. Carter responded in a neat speech, expressing his thanks. The remainder of the evening was spent in eating and drinking, and general enjoyment.

THE NEW DIRECTORY.
The new city directory just published by Pryor & Co., is being distributed to subscribers. It contains 3,435 names, an increase of 400 over the number published in 1876. Although many names were omitted from the former directory, and some at least are omitted from this, it is safe to say that during the past two years the population of the city has increased. The manufacturing interests have been greatly instrumental in keeping up the slow but sure growth of the city, together with the fact that the business men of the city have not allowed themselves to get on the high steam pressure which has caused so many financial explosions and so much mercantile disaster in many other cities in the country. There have been few failures, and most of the business houses have been so long established and so carefully managed that the mercantile interests of the city have been built upon such a solid foundation that the convulsions of hard times shake them but little. Hence the steady growth.
A hasty glance through the classified business directory shows there named 35 saloons, 30 groceries, 20 lawyers, 17 doctors, 17 boot and shoe makers and dealers, 14 hotels, 11 dry goods houses, 8 blacksmith shops, 11 meat markets, 9 dressmakers, 7 jewelers, 6 druggists, 6 butcher shops, 7 crockery dealers, 7 harness shops, 5 liveries, 10 merchant tailors, 5 billiard halls, 5 dentists, 5 lumber yards, 5 hardware stores, 4 bakeries, 4 clothing houses, 4 furniture dealers, 3 photographers, 3 justices of the peace, 3 marble works, 3 breweries, 3 book stores, 3 banks, 3 veterinary doctors, and a proportionate representative of other employments, as well as the factories which are familiar to all.

The new book is a typographical failure and has far too many mistakes and omissions. There is no reason why a directory should not be had in a city of the size of Janesville, which shall be perfectly reliable. Like most of those which have preceded this, there are too many blunders and not sufficient care shown in collecting and printing the facts to make it a complete and handy book of reference. It is somewhat of an improvement however on the one which preceded it, and while it is not all that could be desired, still it is one of those necessities which no business man should be without. It is a book needed almost hourly in every place of business, and is at least worth the moderate sum which the publishers charge for it.
SOCIAL DOINGS.
A very quiet wedding took place last Thursday evening the announcement of which will be of interest to social circles. The contracting parties were Mr. Wellington Willy and Miss Mattie Lovejoy. Rev. Mr. Sanderson performed the marriage ceremony which was witnessed by a few of the immediate relatives only, and after partaking of a wedding supper, the happy pair started for Milwaukee on a short trip.
There was a pleasant gathering of the young friends of Miss Nannie Royce, at the residence of Mr. & Mrs. W. A. Lawrence last evening. The affair was informal and enjoyable. Social chat, music, games and tempting viands made the hours pass unnoticed. About forty shared the enjoyment.
There was a pleasant social gathering at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Stickney, on Academy street last evening.
There have been several social gatherings this week, the managers of which have urgently requested that no mention be made of their little parties, and the Gazette accordingly assents.
Mr. and Mrs. John W. Sales entertained a few friends last evening in a very happy manner.
There was a highly enjoyable time last evening at the Janesville Grange Hall in which about ninety couples gladly participated. Excellent music, a good selection of numbers, a more than usual tempting supper, and an abundance of jolity made the enjoyment of the evening complete. About thirty couples from the city went out, all of whom speak in the highest praise of the management of the affair and its success.
Economy.
There is economy in buying Dr. Price's Special Flavoring Extracts, as they are the most natural flavors made, and in strength, quality and quantity, there are no other flavoring extracts that can compare with them.
LOCAL MATTERS.
Ladies and Gents will always find the nicest and cheapest Box and Staple Stationery in the city and Sutherland's Bookstore, No 39 Main street. 7mard5dw
Dr. S. C. Courn, of Madison, will be at the Edwards house, on Monday, Feb. 11, 1878, to treat piles and all diseases of the rectum, to remain until Saturday following. Satisfactory terms given, also the best references. feb9d1w
Dr. Marshall's Lung Syrup speaks for itself. It seems everybody recommends it as the most reliable remedy for Coughs, Colds and Pulmonary complaints. Price 25 cents. Sold by E. B. Helmstreet. feb14dw
The Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia, Pa., by its judicious reduction of rates, will maintain its famous reputation as a model, first class house, alive to the demands of the times. 2-11dw
We would particularly request our lady readers to try the Brazilian Volcanic Soft Acting Stove Polish, the next time they wish to clean their stoves. It is all pulverized ready for use, and requires little or no effort to produce a brilliant polish. Sold by Nash, Davis, Dutton and Vankirk. 2-11dw
Having used Dr. Marshall's Lung Syrup in my practice for some time, I am prepared to say that it is a superior remedy for all cases of Coughs, Colds and diseases of the lungs and chest. Dr. F. WALTRAP, Springfield, Mich. Sold by E. B. Helmstreet. 2-11dw
Dr. P. B. Hyland, Magnetic physician, will be at the Edwards house all of next week to show his ability in curing all forms of disease. Liberal tests of his power will be given at the Edwards house, on Tuesday evening. Come and see and judge. February 8, 1878. dlw

A Gentle Hint.
In our style of climate, with its sudden changes of temperature, rain, wind and sunshine often intermingled in a single day—it is no wonder that our children, friends and relatives are so frequently taken from us by neglected colds, the deaths resulting directly from this cause. A bottle of Bosche's German Syrup kept about your home for immediate use will prevent serious sickness, a large doctor's bill, and perhaps death, by the use of three or four doses. For curing Consumption, Hemorrhages, Pneumonia, Severe Coughs, Croup or any disease of the Throat or Lungs, its success is simply wonderful, as your druggist will tell you. Germany Syrup is now sold in every town and village on this continent. Sample bottles for trial, 10c.; regular size, 75c. dec3dw-15rcowim
Our Changeful Climate.
Makes a reliable remedy for Throat and Lung Disorders necessary in every household. Parker's Ginger Tonic is just the medicine needed. It radically cures Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, and even Consumption, if used in time, by its powerful specific action on the Stomach, Kidneys, Skin, Liver, and mucous surfaces of the Throat and Lungs. In this natural way it cleanses the waste matters from the blood, builds up the tissues, fortifies the system against further attacks, and permanently allays inflammation of the Throat, Lungs, and other organs. It cures Dyspepsia, and its varied symptoms of Headache, Nervousness, Palpitation of the Heart, Wakefulness, Acid Stomach, Costiveness, Liver Complaints, Coated Tongue, Low Spirits, Rheumatic Pains, etc., and gives comfort after a hearty meal. Buy a $1.00 bottle from your druggist, A. J. Roberts, Janesville, Wis., or a sample bottle at 15 cts., and test its extraordinary merits. Jan25dw-25rcowim

CHICAGO MARKET.
CHICAGO, February 15
The afternoon markets were active, excited and higher.
Wheat—The market on spring wheat—This cereal is still the centre of interest in local speculative circles. To-day, under the influence of light receipts, liberal shipments, strong eastern and foreign trade advices, and more warlike news from Europe, the bull side was regarded with unusual favor. Prices, as customary when the feeling is feverish and speculation comprises the bulk of the business transacted, were somewhat irregular, yet the natural tendency of the movement was unquestionably upward, and the advance established, based on the closing quotations on last evening, amounted to 3/4 to 1/2c. The bulls were masters of the market, and as the shorts were induced by an unexpected demand from all sides for additional margins to buy liberally, the trading was accompanied by considerably more than ordinary degree of excitement. Shipping orders continue remarkably large, and on yesterday the shipments were almost double the amount received. Considering the advance, which so far is due chiefly to the threatening complications arising from a settlement of the questions presented in the recent war, our legitimate trade is remarkably healthy, and though speculation has increased materially of late, though prices of cash grain find no trouble in obtaining a ready market. European political developments, however, promise to exert a leading influence for the present, and are likely to change the condition and aspect of affairs at any time. At the adjournment of 'Change cash No 2 spring was firm at 1 1/4 for gilt edge, and regular grain was quoted at 1 1/4

The New York returns of the imports and exports for the month of January have just appeared, and there is a very marked increase over the corresponding month of last year, while in the export movement, particularly of domestic merchandise, there is a very marked decrease over both 1876 and 1877. The returns of the past seven months of the fiscal year show importations, both in value and in quantity, to be larger than in any other year since 1870. The movement of specie during the month was moderate, shipments showing a slight increase, and imports a decrease as compared with last year. The value of exports was less than the value of imports, the balance of trade being in favor of the United States by $1,715,945 less than in January last year, and $2,545,459 less than the total of 1876. The value of imports in January was $24,000,000 less than last year; and this, coupled with the falling off in free goods and direct entries, shows the value of foreign merchandise thrown upon the market to have been about $3,750,000 less than in January, 1877.

TREMONT HOUSE, Chicago,
The "PALACE" Hotel of America.
JEWETT WILCOX, Manager.
JAMES COUCH, Proprietor

THE TREMONT HOUSE, the "Palace Hotel" of Chicago, is unsurpassed in all the appointments, luxuries and comforts of a first-class hotel. Situated in the heart of the business portion of the city, it offers superior inducements to, and is the favorite home of the pleasure seeker, commercial traveler, tourist and business man. Prices have been made to suit the times, ranging from $1.00 to $4.00 per day, according to size and location of rooms. Rooms, without board, can be secured at $1.00 to $2.00 per day, with one of the finest RESTAURANTS in the West attached to the Hotel.
The undersigned having assumed the MANAGEMENT of the Tremont, hopes to welcome there his old friends, acquaintances, and the traveling public generally, and trusts whenever you visit the city you will favor him with a share of your patronage.
Chicago, 1877. JEWETT WILCOX, Manager.
